

2013 Photography Workshop

Mt Gravatt Environment Group

Sunday 1 September

Take control of your camera and explore the artistry of nature:

- morning - Nature in Your Lens
- afternoon - Fashion in the Bush

In the morning workshop leader, Alan Moore, will share that rare ability to capture the feeling of being in the bush, so you can put it on your wall at home.

First cover the basics of digital photography – shutter vs aperture priority, macro vs telephoto and depth of field, getting focus right. Then join Alan, on assignment in the bush, to practice your new skills. Return from assignment for a BYO picnic lunch while your photos are loaded for viewing by the group and critique by our workshop leader.

In the afternoon Alan will cover basics of fashion photography. Your assignment is to capture the mood as models bring you nature inspired Fashion in the Bush. Share afternoon tea while your photos are uploaded for review.

The workshop venue is among trees at Fox Gully Bushcare site within Mt Gravatt Conservation Reserve.
